

the legal process! And this was all confessed by the MEW employee, may God be with him because he will certainly get punished for this.

But let me tell you how these transactions get done. According to the people, there are groups in the Ministry of Electricity with a list of services like menus. For the right price, you will be referred to a licensed company to execute the work and whatever you want, or can afford, you can get. For instance, connecting the current without a permit from the municipality has a price. Connecting the current without installing a meter or paying the MEW fees also has a price. If MEW initially rejects your request to connect the current, then bypassing this has another price. If you want to change the location of your home's electrical panel, you can and so on. What we saw in the video, and what the employee testified to are more than enough to prove this abhorrent corruption.

I always say, although the corrupted people may be few, they are nonetheless the more influential force affecting the citizens' interests, and their harm is great. This does not absolve the leaders of those institutions of responsibility for the neglected. Even if they were honest and faithful people, the mistakes or corruption of some of their employees also makes them accountable. And to this honorable employee who wanted to make his Ministry proud, I say:

Your Ministry is like an ostrich. The head is buried under ground and its body, tainted with corruption, is visible to everyone.
